By STEPHEN HALLETT.

tal rivals being shut up together in a feet underground, for hours at a

Once inside the air chamber, they

Then, just about noon, Leslie's pick ac-

There was an oath, a shuffle, and, like a mastiff, Dart was at Leslie's throat.

In this small space-hardly bigger

. . .

For many weeks there had been

NOK OHN BLATCHFORD, civil | tercation between the pair began on gengineer, sat out in the their way to the tunnel; and Kate, 5 open, with his eyes resting who had heard of the angry dispute, reflectively on a round in- experienced a dread of open trouble strument, with figures en-MOK circ.ng II, and a needle. It resembled her spirits all that morning. The flash an aneroid barometer, but it was not, of gibe and repartee continued as the It was a peculiar air gauge, a Scottish two rivals descended the narrow tube invention, and Blatchford had not seen at the base of the shaft into the one of the kind since he had helped bowels of the earth; and so far from build the great bridge at Chepultegee, bettering the situation. Leslie's selfin Mexico. Then he was a subordin- satisfied air and affected carelessness ate assistant; now, at eighty-and- only made matters worse. For he was twenty, he was engineer of the Mar- not without reason for satisfaction, albury Tunnel, under the river of that though the truth was known to only name, just outside the important one other man in Belchester. Kate manufacturing town of Belchester.

Blatchford's recoilections of tropical evening, to be his wife. And Edward Chepultepec, although doubtless excit- Dart, the rejected suitor, knew thising, were, however, suddenly interrupt- knew it from Kate's own lips. This ed by the advent of a young girl, fatal knowledge, fatal to all his hopes whose footsteps he had not heard, and and dreams, entered the soul of Edwho now stood timidiy before him. | ward Dart like a bar of red-hot iron.

The young engineer was on his feet He was a bigger and stronger man in an instant. He had a very gallant than Leslie, and would relish nothing bearing with women-irrespective of better than to carry the quarrel to class-but he was particularly atten- blows. There was something grim, tive if they happened to be pretty wo- uncanny, in the idea of these two mor-

"Did you wish to see me?" he asked, spaning.

'Oh, no, sir." faltered the girl; "I stretch. thought-that is-I came with a message to-"

"One of the men, perhaps?" "Yes."

"You have a brother working down in the air chamber?" The girl blushed. "Not a brother-a friend." "Ah! Well, the men will be up short-the gauge myself. Sit here and wait." She seated herself, looking very his hands on a pick; he was seemingpretty, Blatchford thought, with her ly about to wield it. But too late! his neat, simple attire and thick auburn antagonist forced him backward; he needle's) course. Fifty-forty-fivetresses; and the very first thing that fell with a crash upon a heap of tools, caught her eye was the clock-faced ob- and Dart's arm and ankle were ject which Blatchford had called the broken, snapping like faggots. "gauge." He saw her glance riveted upon it, and good-naturedly undertook to explain that it registered the peace between the successful and the amount and pressure of air in the stalwart men toiled at the tunnel.

"Is it very dangerous?" she asked. | to an accident. Mr. Blatchford never | both hands; she shrieked for help. "What-the work? Well, that de- heard of the battle between the two pends. You see, air seems innocent men. Leslie made a point of looking water would be unchecked, and it enough, but it is a power not to be in at the Dart cottage on his way trifled with. Every man down at the home from work to see how the man Leslie would be drowned like a rat bottom of this shaft is working at a with whom he had so long been at en- in a trap. pressure of thirty-five pounds to every mity, and with whom he had so lately square inch of him. It is almost like come to blows, progressed toward rebeing hugged by a bear. When I press covery. Dart had been rather a fathis lever-this way-more air is forced vorite of Mr. Blatchford, and was not down." He touched one of the levers unpopular among the men, so that teen. In vain the young girl put forth just below the gauge and pointed to there v is general regret at the injury her full remaining strength. Dart's the needle. "There, you see, it is now he had sustained, thirty-six, thirty-seven, thirty-eight, thirty-nine pounds to the square inch; the engineer of the works had of- Kate had thus become, unwittingly, and by a mere touch of my finger it fered the convalescent man the not an accessory to her lover's murder. could be forced higher-even up to very arduous post of lock-tender, Les- The needle pointed to nine and was sixty-five. This is almost strong lie was one of the first to congratulate still descending when she fainted at enough to crush a man."

"How wonderful that mere air girl. "But what is the use of it-this air?"

Dart.

the other end of the tunnel."

As she drew near, the sight that met through her, she scarce dared tell herself why. It was only the lock-tender was on the lever. It was the expression of his face which repelled Kate.

"If there is no one down in the air chamber," she thought to herself,

Quite close she came, without Dart's perceiving her proximity. His whole was going higher. In other words, possess an occupant, would prove per-

"Edward Dart!" cried Kate passion-

The man's hand sprang back from

"What are you doing here?" he

"Tell me-is any, one inside the

"why is he here?"

does that mean?"

asked roughly.

"Tell you? What for?"

it work. It helps us dig our tunnel at length to laugh at her fears. There under the river, by forcing out the was safety in numbers, and after all, it At the spectacle which met their water and mud. Then, besides, it is was not likely that even one ten times eyes, they stopped short, and Robert for the workmen to breathe. But, more vindictive than the man she had Leslie, as pale as death, flung himhello! why are you so pale?"

It must be very terriber to work down well concealed that nobody noticed tunnel. Several of his comrades there. Suppose something was to go it, not even Kate Maxwell. wrong with the air-pipes, and they But one day, coming across the was subsequently borne home, sufferwere to get too much or too little air?" fields, she observed a smail launch in ing from shock. Blatchford, who, young as he was, the river just over where the tunnel shrugged his shoulders. or part of it-would pour in and drown Burus, Tyler, Pocock, and several of levers would not work." them; if they got too much and there | the workmen employed in the tunnel. | Mr. Blatchford examined the indicawas no way for it to escape, it would As the gang were usually at work on crush them. But, after all, it is little the north side of the river at this hour, he gave a low whistle. likely that either of these terrible she stopped an acquaintance, in the vigauge is so accurate and reliable. meant. Auxone of intelligence could keep the as much as a man ought to stand." He pulled out his watch and looked day."

cast an ominous glance at the great turned away, but wended her way to iron door which barred the entrance to the air lock and led to the working thinking he might have been left bechamber, as it was called, under the hind. her gaze sent a chill of apprehension

"Robert!" formed itsel: involuntarily on her lips.

Although none knew it, Kate Maxwell's unaccountable misgivings were Dart, with his arm still in a sling, not without justification. Even as the studying the indicator. One hand pair had been talking, seventy feet below where they stood, a terrible scene was being enacted. It had been a struggle for life in the darkness and oppressed atmosphere of the subterranean air chamber, and her lover, Robert Leslie, was one of the actors. A feud had for some time existed be- mind was intent on the gauge, his lips tween young Leslie and another of were slightly parted in a most unpleasthe pressure-workers, Edward Dart, ant smile, and he muttered phrases to and this feud, of which Kate Maxwell himself as he scanned the motion of was the hapless origin, had of late, for the needle. The young woman was some cause or other, increased, at about to accost him, but before a least on Dart's side, to great intensity. syllable had left her lips, her eye fell Dart had always borne a good repu- on the figure to which the fatal needle tation in Belchester, and was the sole pointed. support of a widowed mother; but his The gauge registered already fiftytemper was none of the best, and it seven pounds of air to the inch, and was known that he could be vindictive. It was rumored that his atten- that powerful, relentless, modern tions to Kate had extended over a force, compressed air, was flowing couple of years, and had never been fiercely, yet silently into the chamber discouraged until the flaxen-haired far beneath the river, which, did it Leslie appeared on the scene.

At first the feud took the form of haps a chamber of death. sarcasm, but this quickly developed into great bitterness of language, ately, pointing to the gauge, "what Burly Jim Burns, the foreman of the gang, was obliged to act the part of peacemaker a dozen times a day, the lever, as to wrench the latter in when, as he put it, "the youngsters' its socket. tongues got a-waggin'."

"Let him alone, Ned," he would say to Dart; "what d'ye want to be always werrying Bob for?" Or it would | lock?" be, "Drop it, Bob, or I'll set old Widow Dart on ye. She'll make it lively for

ye. 1 reckon." On this particular June day, the all the working of this lock, and I know York News.

that that pressure is dangerous. I cannot trust you." Then she added, trembling like a leaf, "Where is Robert -Robert Leslie?"

"How do I know?" he sneered, although beads of sweat stood out on his brow. His hand was back on the steel

"Then take your hand oft that lever, I tell you-reduce that pressure of Dart made no movement. The Dart made no movement.

needle now pointed to sixty-four. In her frenzy for the supposed safety of the supposed sa between them which greatly affected away from his post. He seized her in- national aid. When any one is asked ceeded in getting through drew lots piece of iron lay near by. She seized their endorsement to this new idea, or The fun of this game when done it and struck him a blow full on the rather old idea, for it is now nearly quickly and within the time limit cantemples, and the fellow collapsed like a century since Jefferson signed the not be understood until tried. All Maxwell had promised, on the previous an emptied sack.

Then she instantly clutched the right ·lever and lowered it, gasping and choking in her excitement. She expected it to turn the opposite direction, but to her terror, it continued to revolve as before.

Sixty-five-sixty-six-sixty-seven -Merciful heavens, what should she Instantly she grasped the other lever second of suspense seemed an eternity. vinced that her lover, Robert Leslie, was in the air chamber at the bottom of the shaft. How could she save cidentally struck upon Dart's foot. terrible compressed air, gripping his body and slowly crushing it, as a boa at present, and I am obliged to tend lamp had been extinguished. Then ered in the balance, then began to should contribute." there was a piercing cry-Dart had got slowly move in the opposite direction. When it got to thirty-five she would depress the lever and stay its (the forty-figure by figure it turned slowly. Thank God; the danger was past!

the very nick of time. But horrors-what was this! unsuccessful suitor for the hand of though she pressed with all her might, working chamber far beneath the Kate Maxwell. The affair in the air the needle continued to turn, after river, where, at that moment, seven chamber, which had deprived the tun- thirty-five was passed: She sprang at nel of Dart's services, was put down the other lever; she gripped it with

If Robert were indeed in the air chamber and lived, his rescue had come in

If it reached a certain point, the would flow into the air-chamber, and Thirty - twenty-five - twenty-fourtwenty-three-twenty-two! Could nothing be done!

Twenty-one-twenty-nineteen-eighfall must have destroyed the nice When the news came, therefore, that mechanism of the instrument, and the door of the lock.

But in her timorous, illogical, wo-A few moments later, John Blatchshould be so strong!" exclaimed the manly fashion, Kate, remembering the ford, engineer of the Marbury Tunnel, conversation she had had with Mr. at last completed after many months Blatchford, was not much pleased at of labor, came up the shaft, smiling, "Use? Why, we harness it and make the news, though she brought herself followed by his little gang of faithful rejected as a lover, would injure seven | self beside the recumbent form of his Kate Maxwell smiled nervously, dis- men in order to gratify a grudge to a sweetheart, who lay white and still, playing twin rows of perfect teeth. | single one. Besides, did Dart still scarce two feet from the great iron "Oh, nothing. Only I was thinking cherish a grudge? Is so, it was so door which barred the way into the turned their attention to Dart, who

When Kate Maxwell recovered conwas familiar with death and danger, lay, making rapidly for the other sciousness, she clasped her lover closeshore, where similar works were also ly. "The gauge," she murmured, "We must take risks in every trade. in proffess and had been for months. stretching out her finger. "I thought If the men got too little air, the river- On it she recognized the forms of you were dead down there. And the tor and levers while she spoke. Then

"By Jupiter!" he said quietly, things could happen, because, you see, cinity of the tunnel, now approaching turned on less air at the right moment, it is so carefully regulated and the completion, and asked him what it Mistress Kate. I was out six feet in my reckening, and the two ends of the "Oh," said the man, "they're gone tunnel met sooner than I expected. supply at thirty-five pounds, which is over with Mr. Blatchford to work at But if we had met, with the pressure here at sixty-five, whether there had Kate closely scanned the occupants been an explosion or not, it would of the boat, and even took out her have been rather rough on Leslie. He "Hello!" he ejaculated, in surprise, handkerchief and fluttered it in hope would have been paralyzed for life. Then it would not be burdensome up-"the men are late in coming up to- of a reply from her lover. There was | That's the worst of putting a sick man no response. Perhaps he was there on duty: there's always the risk of a The girl shuddered at his words and and did not see her. Disappointed, she relapse at the wrong moment."

Kate Maxwell, looking up into her the head of the north tunnel shaft, lover's face, was silent .- New York Weekly.

Keep the Mouth Shut. Keep the mouth shut. This peremptory command is to insure proper breathing; that is, breathing through the nose. One should never, unless absolutely necessary, breathe through the mouth. It is the duty of the nose, and it was made for that express purpose and is specially constructed to aid correct breathing, says Farmer's Guide. In the first place, it is provided with tiny hairs that trap dust and impurities that may be in the air and prevent their invading the system. The nose has also what are known as turbinated bones. These act as warn ing plates to temper the air as it is inhaled. It is further provided with an apparatus for furnishing moisture to the air. All these processes are quite essential before the air is drawn into the lungs, and if the breath is drawn through the mouth many of these essentials are lost. It is an excellent plan to take a good brisk walk every morning and to compel oneself to breathe through the nose all the time. This is a first-rate hygienic practice. At first it may be difficult to do so, but it is worth persisting in, and

"practice makes perfect." Widowhood in China. According to the laws of good socieyears, she may, by applying to the more stringent laws to regulate them .-Emperor, get a sum of money with Dr. George G. Groff, Lewisburg, Pa., which to buy a tablet, on which her virtues are inscribed. The tablet is then placed over the door at the prin-"Because I must-I will know. Becipal entrance to her house .- New cause Mr. Blatchford explained to me stantly with both hands, thus show- to say something on the road question for a prize, which was a book containing that his broken limb had entirely he takes it for granted that you want ing the alphabet in rhyme and picture. healed, although he had seen fit to to know whether he thinks the Govern- Then the guests were asked to say hide the cure, for purposes of his own. ment should help build the roads. half the alphabet by skipping every "Help! Help!" she screamed. A Many leading men have recently given other letter. first national aid bill. Some of these those who accomplished the feat drew views are interesting. In a recent for the prize, which was a dainty speech ex-Senator Butler, of South bisque statuette of a schoolboy. The Carolina, said:

Views of Representative Men.

roads out of the United States Treas- stance, if the hostess named "fruit," ury-as large as there is for the im- the player began, "apple, banana," It is an appropriation from which we son failing removed his seat from the and exerted all her strength. Every would all get benefit and to which we circle, and the prize winner in this would all contribute a share. The Con- game was the one who remained in the narrow, dimly lighted box, seventy Kate Maxwell was now firmly con- stitution of the United States confers line when all the other players had upon Congress the right to establish failed and had withdrawn. Her repostoffices and post-roads. Every ward was a copy of a reading book. reduce the volume of air would bring do is to go to our Representatives and about the astor. than a ship's cabin-five men flattened relief at once-perhaps save his life. Senators in Congress and say to them: The last game provoked the most themselves against the sides while Her lips formed a silent prayer, and The great demand of modern times is amusement. Every player was given ly for dinner. You had better wait. Dart and Leslie fought like demons in as if in answer to that supplication, the improvement of the public high- a letter of the alphabet and told to You see, we are rather short-handed the darkness, for in the struggle the the needle of the gauge at last way- ways, and the Federal Government bear it in mind. After everyone had His attitude would be toward the accursed

Governor Montague, of Virginia, is doing everything in his power to secure | box in which were slips of paper. State legislation for road improvement, Each slip had written upon it a comand he is also in favor of national aid. He says:

"We should not, however, overlook come. The so-called constitutional barrier against national appropriation er was obliged to name a proper noun must fall to the ground. The National of the class given on the slip and be-Government has constructed public ginning with the letter in the alphabet highways unopposed by the strictest allotted to him. The player whose letconstructionist of the Federal Constiter was "F" and who drew "Dog," was tution. Moreover, if the National Gov- lucky enough to thing at once of ernment can appropriate money to "Fldo." The drawing was continued build harbors and to irrigate lands of until all the players but one had failed. reason and the right for national aid prize. to public highways, the primal and abiding factors of transportation, both local and interstate."

Speaking on the same subject, General Nelson A. Miles says:

the projects that is bound to contribute to your welfare and happiness."

this subject, says: much as good roads are the basis of onial Office has lately given sanction nually for road improvement?" Assistant Secretary of Agriculture hours fast on Greenwich, and India Colonel J. R. Brigham recently ex- and Farther India are about to fall in pressed himself as favorable to ma- with the scheme, so that the universal tional aid. Among other things he time system now goes round the world, said: cept France and Ireland, have adopted "I believe the General Government can help in this work of improving the highways. I am one of those who | London Telegraph. believe it is always right for the strong arm of the Government to be extended. to help her people in every section of this country. The Government could appropriate a certain sum, to be supplemented by appropriations from State and county, and then ask the locality where the road is to be constructed to contribute a certain amount, and bring these funds all together. on any one, and the work would be started here, there and everywhere, and in a few short years, without unduly burdening anybody, without impoverishing the nation or the State, we would see good highways extending all over our land, beautifying the country, enriching the people, and adding to their intelligence and happiness in many ways."

Good Roads and Automobiles. Recently, in a county in central Pennsylvania, the writer passed over a most excellent piece of highway, built by the State Engineer, under the law now in operation in this State. This piece of good road was soon passed over and standing he was an expert at jiu-jitsu. then we came to a road nearly as bad as a country road could be. The remark was made to the driver that it would be well to extend the good road. The reply was: "It will not be done. the tricks of jiu-jitsu, which an Amer-The farmers believe that it will cause | ican | could | never | acquire.-Marjon automobiles to come this way, and News Tribune. then they cannot send their wives and daughters to town on business. Often it is not convenient for a man to go to town, and the women go, but no man will trust his women to drive on a road frequented by automobiles." I have heard this statement several times recently in this State.

In my own experience I was recently saved only by a good driver. One of tered over to the tent of that dignitary, these machines came dashing at us at where the general was in conference a fearful rate and frightened our horse, but the driver was able to control him. It would not seem proper to permit steam locomotives to run on the pubty in China, young widows should not lie roads as the machines called autoremarry. Widowhood is therefore held me iles are permitted to run, yet one in highest esteem, and the older the is : locomotive as much as the other, widow grows the more agreeable her and just as dangerous. In this State position comes. Should she reach fifty it is becoming clear that we must have

For His Own Good.

The fruit farmer should be an e thusiastic advocate of good roads.

in Tribune Farmer.

TO ENTERTAIN CUESTS. the Novel Game of the Alphabet Party and How It is Played.

A group of young women gave a very nove! party recently, and the guests enjoyed the evening's entertainment. It was called an alphabet party, but no pencils or paper were used. All the guests were seated in a row, and each one was called upon to say the HE question of road im- alphabet backwards. Five minutes provement in the United was allowed for each recitation, and young women were then asked to say "There is ample constitutional war- the alphabet, having each letter begin rant for the improvement of the public a noun of the class named. For inprovement of rivers and harbors or for etc. If "boys" began, "Arnold, Berthe support of the agricultural colleges. nard, Charles," and so on. Each per-highway is a post route if the Govern- Then the guests were asked to write worked for several hours silently. him? She pictured him fallen upon ment chooses to use it. Even in the a nonsense alphabet rhyme. Each perthe slime of the river bed, with the days of John C. Calhoun, he recom- son took a letter and wrote concerning mended the distribution of the surplus a flower, the name of which began among the several States, and it was with the character chosen. Then the constrictor would crush a hound. To done. I think the best thing for us to person drawing "A" wrote a verse received letters the mistress of ceremonies passed along the line a small mon noun of some sort. The nouns were very diverse. Thus one slip had "Heroine" upon it and another read the States, how much greater is the The victor received an appropriate It could not have been done in a manne The Zone Time System. During the last twenty years a movement has been in progress having for its end a uniform system of time-"The United States Government has keeping all over the world, called the appropriated $480,000,000 for rivers and universal or zone time system. The harbors during the last twenty-two principle was expounded by the Asyears, and only about $8,000,000 for tronomer Royal, Mr. Christie, in a lecthe improvement of the country roads. ture at the Royal Institution in 1886. Now it appears to us that it is a fitting The plan is familiar to any continental time to draw the attention, not only traveler. When in Belgium or Spain of the present difficulty. As soon as all fleshly claim to hold control over, or gain of the people that are immediately in- the railway clocks agree with his terested, but of your representatives, watch, if this has been set to Greenboth in the United States and the State legislative bodies, because it is one of legislative bodies, because it is one of this and so on. Not only in legislative bodies, because it is one of zerland the clocks are exactly one hour fast of this, and so on. Not only in the projects that is bound to contribute fast of this, and so on. Not only in forth His glory by miracle had arrived.

General Fitzhugh Lee, referring to globe the system is in vogue, and it is serve His orders without asking questions. announced in the Observatory Maga- Her faith in Him had not weakened. "If you improve the roads, you begin | zine for the current month that even | answer shows what she was expecting Him at the foundation of prosperity for the such a conservative country as China people. The Government of the United has adopted it. Along the east coast States appropriates now a large sum from Niu-Chwang to Swatow and up every year for military purposes. It the Yang-tse-kiang they are keeping appropriates money for our mechanical | the time of the meridian exactly eight | Jews"-the hands and feet of the and agricultural colleges. Now, inas- hours east of Greenwich, and the Col- must be washed, and "the washing of > Greenwich as their prime meridian .-Skeptical as to Jiu-Jitsu. If we Americans don't have a new craze on hand every week day and two on Sunday our surplus energy evaporates. Now comes the jiu-jitsu of Japan. There is no particular harm in it, unless it be overdone. But we have a certificate of reasonable doubt that it is not what it is cracked up to be. Writers declare it converts an ordinary man into a miracle of activity and strength, rendering a five-foot Jap the equal of seven six-foot Russians. Why, then, do not the Japs in Manchuria lay down their arms and throw the Russians into the sea? If jiujitsu is even one-half as wonderful a thing as we hear it is, why don't we have Japs leading in international athletics? Why should any living wrestler of other nationality claim a supremacy? Did you ever hear of a Jap winning a fight in a prize ring with bare fists? Japs are not boxers. The wicked Chinese are the boxers. Matsada Sorakichi was a great wrestler, but won no championships, notwith-Are there Jap champions at running, jumping, rowing, fencing, swimming? At juggling (sleight-of-hand) they are supreme; hence they are capable of General Miles and the Raw Recruit. When General Miles was in Porto Rico, as commanding general of the United States troops, a raw recruit from Tennessee was detailed for duty as his orderly. The recruit knew absolutely nothing of military etiquette, and on receiving orders to report to the commanding general for duty he saunwith several staff officers. Entering the tent without the formality of a salute the Tennesseean remarked: "Well, Miles, did you want to see me?"

General Miles bristled up. "Don't call me Miles," he began irritably. Then the humor of the situation dawned on him and he added with a grim smile-"That's too formal. Call me Nelse."

Then he procedeed to read the recruit a lesson that he never forgot on the amenities of military life.-Milwaukee

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL EPWORTH LEAGUE LESSONS

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR JANUARY 22.

> Subject: The First Muracle in Cana, John il., 1-11-Golden Text, John ii., 5-Memory Verse, 11 - Commentary on the Day's Lesson. J. The marriage in Cana (vs. 1, 2). 1. "The third day." From the calling of Philip and Nathanael, or six days from the time John the Baptist had answered the authorities from Jerusalem. It is cal ulated that Wednesday was the day being the usual day for weddings for Jey ish maidens. Widows were married on Thursday. "A marriage." Including the marriage feast, which was frequently celes the basis of all that has followed. 2. "Jesus was called." Invited. This was natural, especially if His mother was a relative. It was according to custom that a strange Jewish rabbi visiting there should be invited. "Disciples." The disciples were those already mentioned-Andrew, Simon, John, Philip, Nathanael and probably James. Jesus sanctifies true earthly joy. We need not wonder to find the Lerd of life at that festival, for He came to sanctify all life-its times of joy and its times of sorrow, and all experience tells us that it is times of gladness which especially need such a sanctifying power. God wants us to be happy. He has given a hundred joys to every sorrow.

II. The mother of Jesus (vs. 3-5). 3.
"When the wine failed" (R. V.) To Eastbrated for several days. The family was he first divine institution among men, and ern hospitality such a mishap would be very mortifying and would seem almost disgraceful. The family no doubt was poor, extra guests had come and the supply was limited. There has been much discussion as to whether Jesus made wine that would intoxicate. Dr. Whedon says: "We see no reason for supposing that the wine of the present occasion was of that kind upon which Scripture places its strongest interdict" (Prov. 20:1; 23:31; Isa. 22:13). No one can prove that it contained intoxicating qualities, and there are many and strong reasons for believing that it was as pure and harmless as the juice of the grape fresh from the vines. Winebibbers need not undertake to fall back on this miracle as an excuse for the gratification of their perverted appetites. If Jesus were in merica to-day we know very well what saloon and toward wine at banquets, and in fact toward the banquets as they are now carried on. We may be sure that He never encouraged anything which would lead, as our fatoxicating liquors do, to degradation and ruin. "Mother—saith," degradation and ruin. "Mother—saith," etc. She probably spoke to Him privately. Although Christ had as yet performed no miracle, yet His mother feels sure that He national aid. I believe this in time will "House," "Fish," "Dog," etc. Imme- is able to help them in the present emerdiately after receiving the slip a playto our ears, but it was equivalent to our saying "Lady," and "was a highly respect-ful and affectionate mode of address." He > necessary now, at once and forever, to show her that He was not Jesus the of Mary, but the Christ, the Son of God; that as regarded His great work and mission, His eternal being, the significance of the beautiful relationship had passed away. more decisive, yet more entirely tender "What have I to do with thee?" What is there in common between us?, He cannot longer work in her way. She does not un-derstand the influences directing His pres-ent life. "Mine hour." The hour for the manifestation of His glory. Jesus rejects the worldly ambition in Mary's request. She desires a brilliant miracle, as a public sign of His coming. Jesus penetrates this ambitious thought, and traces a boundary for Mary's desires, which she should no more attempt to cross. But this does not prevent His understanding that along with this there is something to be done in view emolument by, His Messianic power was rejected-as soon as His mother retired to does not call her "mother," because it was

III. The miracle wrought (vs. 6-11). 6. "Six waterpots." A large quantity water was needed at a Jewish banque cause of "the manner of purifying of the cups and jugs and bottles went on whole day." "Two or three firkins." prosperity, both in country and city, of this being the legal time of Hong- firkin was about nine gallons, therefore why should not the Government appro- kong and the other British colonies these waterpots held between 108 and 162

why should not the Government appro- kong and the other bring splens.

priate an adequate sum of money and within the zone. Western China is gallons.

7. "To the brim." We do not know likely soon to adopt the time seven that they were entirely empty, but whatever had been drawn out was replaced. 8. "Draw out." The word for draw may be used in the sense of dip out. governor." The president of the banquet. "They bare it." Here faith was required. governor. and all the principal nationalities, ex-To put water in the jars required obedience, but to draw that water out and pass it to the chief guest as wine made a strong demand on faith.

9. "Knew not." Knew not the miraculous origin of the wine. "Servants—knew." The independent witness to the two parts of the miracle establishes its reality. The ruler of the feast declares what the element is, the servants knew what it was. 10. "Every man." This is the common custom among men. "Well drunk." Men who have had enough are indifferent as to the quality of the wine set before them. The ruler of the feast is but alluding to the corrupt customs and fashions among men, and not to aught that was going on before his eyes, for such the Lord would have as little sanctioned by presence as He would have helped it forward by a wonder-work of His own. Sin gives its best-its pleasures and honors-first; its worst-its sorrow, poverty. grace and ruin-follow. First harlots and riotous living, then swine. Christ gives first the cross, the race, the battle; then the crown, rest and glory.

11. "Manifested forth His glory. 11. prophet would manifest the gory of God, but He His own glory, for He was God. The miracles and wonders of Jesus were all signs (1) of Christ's divine nature: of His mission as from God; (3) of His good will toward men; (4) of the truths that He taught; (5) of the nature and character of God. "Disc ples believed on Him." Their faith was now confirmed. They were now sure they had found the Messiah. It was 400 years since the Jews had seen a prophet who could perform miracles. The guests partook of the wine; the disciples had something far better-an increase of faith. Others simply ate drank. These men saw God in Christ manifesting His glory.

Fight With a Big Wildcat. Farmer John Hillegas this morning discovered that a dozen of his chickens had ben killed during the night, and set out with a hound to seek the marauder. The hound soon ran down a wildcat, and after a furious battle went home with his tail between nis Hillegas returned to the scene of the dog's defeat and found the cat food and clothing is $10 a month. perched in a tree. He fired at it and the cat leaped on his shoulders, sinking its teeth and claws into his flesh. He shook it off and tried to strike it with the gun, but only succeeded in breaking the rifle in two, and the cat promptly made a spring for his throat. Warding it off with his arm, he finally succeeded in striking it with the barrel of the rifle and breaking its back. A second blow beat out the animal's brains. The cat weighed twelve pounds. - Sigmund correspondence Philadelphia Record.

Pens from Ton of Steel. About 10,000 gross of pens are produced from a ton of steel.

JANUARY TWENTY-SECOND.

How to Win Souls for Christ .- John 1. 40-46.

In this lesson we have the very best of examples of how to win souls in the action of Jesus, the great Teacher. The various ways used to induce the different disciples to follow him are very suggestive of the methods we may use now in bringing souls .to Christ. Human nature changes very little, and the inducements offered to these men appeal to men to-day. Read, and reread carefully this chapter, and note the various methods used by the Master.

He that winneth souls is wise. The value of a soul; the permanency of the work; the rewards offered for it, all make it supremely wise to win souls to Christ:

Fublic preaching. Looking on Jesus, John the Baptist said, "Behold the Lamb of God." It was enough. Two of his disciples, Andrew and John, immediately followed Jesus. They were all prepared. All they needed was to have the public call and they were at once ready to obey. So some in our congregations are prepared and ready. They simply need the evangelistic sermon, the earnest exhortation. The public invitation will reach them. Bring your friends to church; let them be put under the influence of the sermon. Many of them will be saved by this method.

Personal Appeal. "Andrew first findeth his own brother Simon. And he brought him to Jesus." This is the best way. While one may be saved by the public appeal, ten will be won by personal work. The testimonies of our leaders all unite in the evidence that they were won by personal work. Some brother, friend, or worker came to them personally. They were persuaded to start now. Andrew brought Peter. You may bring your friend. A large proportion of Christians are thus won to Christ. There is no need greater in all our Leagues and churches than bands of consecrated, prepared, intelligent, personal workers. If you have a revival in your church this winter it will very likely be because you devote yourselves to personal work. And as hand-picked fruit keeps the best, so souls won by personal appeal usually abide and remain the fruits of revival work.

Experimental Test. Nathanael was like a good many people to-day. He was just a little skeptical about Jesus. Philip had a remedy: "Come and see." He disarmed his prejudice by showing his willingness to put the matter to the test; and he conciliated Nathanael by indicating his h " of that he was able to judge in the patter. We do religion a service when we can induce men to test the matter for themselves.

RAM'S HORN BLASTS

IME servers are eternity losers. Originality is simply personality. Heaven is the interpreter of earth. A live meeting needs little leading. The best criticism of the Bible would ter one. It is never hard to hold the people if you are really helping them. Some men will not believe they are

be to give us a betsoved from drowning until they feel dry. You cannot warm your heart on the Bible and refuse its light on your way. It's no use a man's praying for a clean heart if he will not wash his

They who love God for His gifts never know how much His love can give.

You cannot warm your hands at the devil's fire without warping your heart. The wire-pulling preacher always pulls the whole works about his ears.

We need never measure our love until it surpasses the immeasurable love. There is a good deal of difference between belief in Satan and trust in the Savior. They who love like their Lord do not need to worry over the logic of their The robe of righteousness cannot be won by giving away an old vest now

NEWSY GLEANINGS.

Betsy Meagher, of Ireland, died the other day at the age of 125. The San Francisco (Cal.) police advocate the establishment of a public whipping post for footpads.

A planist of Hull, England, William Frost, recently played on that instrument unceasingly for seventeen hours. A spring wagon that is sixty-five years old and can stand a load of 1000 pounds, is owned by Robert Hill, near Earl. Mo.

At Hille, France, the other day. 2 floor gave way under fifty people. Two persons were killed and many others severely wounded.

The fastest train in Enrope is said to run between Leeds and Edinburgh, a distance of 230 miles, making the trip in 259 minutes.

Of seventy-five samples of coffee examined by the inland revenue department of Ottawa about one-third were found to be adulterated.

The Danish Government has found it necessary to grant greater privileges to the heads of families in changing their names if they feel so disposed.

Chinese students abound in Tokio. There are also a number of Korean students at the university The average allowance of one of these for a room,

Before the altar of St. George's Church, New York City, Miss Mary Byron tried to shoot the Rev. Dr. Rainsford. She was committed to the psychopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital. The California State Board of Trade has voted to request the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States to appoint a special commissioner to ascertain and report regarding all agricultural products that can be raised in the

NOT AT THE FRONT.

She-In case of war, would you go to the front?

He-Well, no. I think I'd sooner be a war correspondent .- Judge.